Headteacher's message

Signs of Christmas are all over the school!

As I have been walking around the school this week it has been wonderful to see all of the different signs of Christmas - there is a tree and a Nativity Scene in the main entrance, Christmas songs can be heard from every room (play rehearsals are fully underway), and the decorations for the Christmas Fayre look fabulous.

Since my last newsletter we have welcomed parents into school twice for class assemblies and it was lovely to see how hard your children have been working, thank you to everyone for coming and supporting them.

May I remind you that in the mornings the doors open at 8.50am, there should be no unaccompanied children on site before this time for safety reasons.

News from the Classes

Lots of great learning has been going on across the school this week, including:

Oak class have been investigating mass this week in their maths lessons, they enjoyed comparing mass using a balance and worked brilliantly with their talk partners.

Birch class invited parents in to a class assembly and they had a great turnout. They recalled an incredible amount of information and even taught me some things I didn't know! Their knowledge of continents and the world map was excellent - well done everyone.

Sycamore class have been studying ratio in maths this week, and also attended Thurston Community College for carol singing - I hear they did us proud and behaved impeccably.

“Next time I will add my ingredients in a different order because it felt funny in my mouth.” Owen (Yr2)

Chestnut class turned their classroom into Willy Wonka's chocolate factory and made their own creations. They had to evaluate (I think that means 'eat') and suggest improvements to their chocolate. Sadly, they didn't ask me to evaluate any of them but they looked great!

We also saw a milestone at school this week, Rowan class hosted their first assembly. They were fantastic, they've learned so much already! Miss Bicknell was especially proud of them.

Competition

I don't know what to call this newsletter so I'm asking for your child's help. Catchy, maybe alliterative, entries to me by Friday 11th December please.

THE FRIENDS OF HONINGTON SCHOOL

The newly formed Friends has had a really busy term. After the success of the quiz, we have placed an order for 85 canvas bags to arrive in time for Christmas. The hall looks fantastic thanks to the efforts of the children and Friends, all ready for a Christmas Fayre. 40 children are booked to see Santa so he's going to be really busy, and over 35 presents were donated for the raffle. There were over 160 bars of chocolate sent in for the tombola (I've not eaten any, I promise - AR) and some great raffle prizes. If you have any time to give, we'd be really grateful. There will be an all new Valentine Disco on the 11th February - watch this space!
